

Farallon
Strategies

Company Background
November 2, 2023

Services

Capacity Building and Stakeholder Activation

Regional Governance Solutions

Planning for Community Resilience

National Service Program Development and Support

Certified B Corporation

A third-party certification
conferred by the nonprofit B Lab

Certified B Corps have (1) achieved a high standard of social and environmental performance as measured by the B Impact Assessment, (2) verified their scores through transparency requirements, and (3) made a legal commitment to consider all stakeholders, not just shareholders

The Team

Michael McCormick
President and Partnerships Lead

Carolyn Yvellez
Project and Strategy Lead

Beth Gibbons
National Resilience Lead

Kif Scheuer
National Service Lead

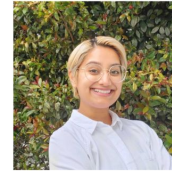

Annie Howley
Project Associate and B Corps Liaison

Prati Rosen
Graduate Research Assistant

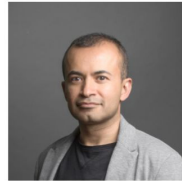

Christina Oraftik
Project Associate

Neena Mohan
Project Associate

Jenn McKenzie
Operations and Project Lead

Alex Quinto
Graphic Design Advisor

Hasmik Geghamyan
Legal Advisor

Capacity Building and Stakeholder Activation

The Farallon Strategies Team provides technical assistance, stakeholder activation, and other capacity building support to advance community climate, resilience, and equity goals. Our team has experience advising our clients on inclusive community engagement, focused stakeholder initiatives, partnership development, grant guidelines development, and grant writing support.

Regional Governance Solutions

The Farallon Strategies Team has extensive experience creating and supporting regional, statewide, and national collaborations and networks focused on addressing climate change. Through research and experiential knowledge, our team is able to guide clients through the process of starting or formalizing equitable collaborative bodies to address governance gaps, regional planning and policy constructs, and collaborative project and program development opportunities

Planning for Community Resilience

Equity, climate change, and community resilience planning, policy, and program development is the foundation of Farallon Strategies' work. With backgrounds in climate action and adaptation planning, expertise in developing environmental justice elements and equity plans, and in-depth policy knowledge across local planning constructs, our team has extensive experience working at all levels of government and with non-profit partners to create solutions for local, regional, and statewide issues.

National Service Program Development and Support

The Farallon Strategies Team built some of the earliest climate focused fellowship and AmeriCorps programs in the United States. Our team now works at this intersection of climate and national service to help improve existing programs and catalyze the development of new national service initiatives focused on climate and community resilience. Our experience and understanding of these domains allows us to connect critical resources, support relationship development, and craft solutions that unlock the power of national service as a strategy for change.

Town and Gown Nexus

Loma Prieta, Dean Corso, Google Maps (2014)
Retrieved: January 24, 2022

Contact

Michael McCormick
President
Farallon Strategies
michael@farallonstrategies.com
Phone: 510-672-5487

Redwoodhikes.com